THE FIRE YESTERDAY MORNING .-In our yesterday's issue we gave a brief and hurried account of the fire on Hillsboro' street, which in a very short time converted into ashes two stores on the Located corner Salisbury and Edenton corner of West street. In the destruc-streets, Rev. T. H. Pritchard, D. D., Pastor. non of these buildings Release are tion of these buildings Raleigh sustains the loss of one of its ancient landmarks. The buildings were erected in 1818 by a gentleman by the name of Brassfield, and known first as Brassfield's Inn, and afterwards as the "Jug" tavero, a locality well noted in North Carolina history.

The "Jug" tavern was the headquarters of all the sporting gents of that day. The street that now leads to the capital gate, was the old quarter race ground, and the cock pit was staked off on the spot now occupied by the residence of Robert H. Jones.

These sports yielded to the march of civilization, and Jug tavern was, in 1835, transformed into the two store rooms, the largest of which was first by Jordan Womble, Esq. They were tor of the Asheville Citizen.

until their destruction. As previously mentioned, the fire is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary. Major Williams, (col.) in whose story the fire originated, is not only known to be a man of good character, but is said to be very careful and particular. He left no light or fire burning in the house, and considering the fact that it was so soon enveloped in flames, there can be no doubt that it was set on fire. As there is no water in the city, of course the two Fire Engines could do nothing, but the members of the "Rescue" and Victor did effective service by assisting the Hook and Ladder and

Bucket Companies. It was fortunate that no wind was blowing at the time or the destruction would have been immense. The residence of R. H. Jones was thought to be in imminent danger at first, but the double rows of trees between this residence and the burning store saved him. As soon as the election news is over, we propose to keep a standing head in our local columns on the importance of city water works. HYMENIAL. - On yesterday morning at 9 o'clock, Mr. William H. Hicks led to the hymenial altar Miss Sallie Stone Strong, second daughter of Hon. George

V. Strong, of this city. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the brides' father, Rev. Dr. Mason of the Episcopal church officiating.

After the nuptials were over, the bride and groom were accompanied by the bridesmaids and groomsmen to the Raleigh and Gaston depot, where they took the ten o'clock train for a Northern tour. The bride was dressed very becomingly and looked charming and beautiful, while the groom seemed the impersonation of happiness itself.

May Heaven smile beneficently on their wedded life!

DENT.

At the time we pen this article, the people of the United States are engaged in the important work of selecting the individual who is to preside for the next four years over the destinics of the Nation.

The day is lovely. The skies are fair -almost cloudless, and the braciness o the autumnal atmosphere gladdens the spirits and cheers the physical man.

How auspicious for the cause of peace Before these words are printed, the die will have been cast and the st.uggle will be over.

Either Horace Greeley to-day is cho sen the people's President, or Ulysses S. Grant has been again proclaimed by the voice the nation's favorite ruler.

Whether elected or not, Horace Gree ley has borne himself since his nomina tion in a manner worthy of the highest praise. He has clevated himself immeasurably in the public estimation by his admirable deportment and noble utterances. Standing on the broad. generous and national platform adopted at Cincinnati and re-affirmed unanimously by the Democratic Convention at Baltimore, accepting in two admirably written and patriotic letters both nominations, canvassing at the urgent request of the National Democratic and Liberal Republican Committees, the Northern and Western States, deliver ing, without preparation and in the midst of hurried travels a wonderful series of speeches, which have rarely been surpassed for models of thought,eloquence of language and statesmanship of views, avoiding all personal abuse and occupying a dignified, elevated, lofty political plane, he has done much to inspire our respect and to extort our admiration.

If he is defeated he can retire to private life with no stain upon his integrity-with no reproaches for errors or misconduct during the campaignwith no regrets for anything that he has done or omitted to do since his nomination was first proclaimed. He can retire with the conciousness of having faithfully performed his whole duty to the Liberal Republican cause. He can retire with the satisfaction that he has fought against wrong, dishonesty and official crimes-that he has raised his voice for the cause of the oppressed and the persecuted South-that HE HAS PLEADED FOR JUSTICE, MAGNANIMITY AND PEACE.

We have more respect for Greeley de feated and in private live than for Grant successful and receiving the congratulations of his hollow hearted minions.

History will write that Greeley, although his overtures for peace be rejected by the popular verdict, is more deserving of honor and true fame than the epauletted king of Radicalism who triumphs for a moment in the victory of successful wrong!

It is better to be right than to be Presi-

PAIRING OFF.

Gov. Caldwell, in his corn-shucking harangue at Metropolitan Hall Monday night, smiled peculiarly happy when he brought down the house of grinning, deluded creatures who shouted like Camanches at the brilliant emanations once in four days, and abused any of of wit and oratory from the lips of his friends who sought to persuade him. their doughty chief.

The Governor told his political friends that many Democrats were ashamed to anxious to pair off with the Republicans. "But," says the Governor, "don't you Democrats! Every one of you vote, and vote for Grant and Wilson! Mind. don't you pair off to-morrow !"

The negroes responded in a loud and unanimous voice-" No, we wont, Governor-we wont pair off!"

As the Governor himself had paired off with a distinguished Democrat, now in this city, we wondered it he was ashamed to vote for Grant!

When he was urging the negroes with so much carnestness never to pair off, the thought occurred to us that the Governor was at that time in a glasshouse, and it was very inconsistent in him to be throwing stones at Greeley Democrats for pairing off.

RUSSELL'S MISCARRIAGE.

But man, proud man,
Dressed in a little brief authority,
Most ignorant of what he's most assured.
His glassy essence,—like an angry ape,
Plays such fantastic tricks before high
Heaven, As makes the angels weep.

We copy elsewhere from the Wilmington Journal a facetious article, giving the feelings of the editors of that paper during the progress of the efforts of Cantwell, the Radical Solicior, and Russell, the Radical Judge, to have the Journal indicted for libel.

Measure for Measure.

The Judge made three special charges to the Grand Jury of New Hanover on the subject, in which he told them that the article in the Journal charging Judge Bond with being a scoundrel was libelous, and intimated that they would perjure themselves if they did not find a true bill.

The Judge lost his temper in the neantime, and hinted to the jurors that they might be committed for contempt if they disobeyed his instructions. He grossly insulted them and attempted to bully them into measures.

But the wordy and diffuse Solicitor and the precocious Judge utterly failed of their purpose, for the indictment was not made.

We think the Journal right in treat ing the matter facetiously. It was farce, in its strictest sense, and presents a fine subject for a first class humorous article.

The idea of such men as Cantwell and Russell setting themselves up in North Carolina as paragons of judicial propriety and luminaries of the law-Cantwell of cockade notoriety, and Russell, the precocious Judge! Such creatures as these, by the grace of Radicalism and negro votes, "clothed with a little brief authority," have made ridiculous figure of themselves, and are the laughing stock of the public.

Russell and Cantwell-par nobile fratrum-sre remarkable men. Their attempt to break down the influence of the Journal has recoiled upon their own

The Wilmington Journal is a brave, fearless, independent paper, and laughs to scorn the puny efforts of the brace of Radical expounders of the law whose names are mentioned above, to stifle its voice or affect its power. Its influence will be felt long after the names of Cantwell and Russell have been forgotten-unless perchance they have achieved an immortality of infamy in their endeavors to overthrow one of the chief bulwarks of human freedom-a free and incorruptible press.

SILENCE AMID OBLOQUY.

The personal and political enemies of Horace Greelev have, during the campaign just passed, stigmatized his name with all manner of epithets. The illustrated newspapers have exhausted their ingenuity to hold him up to ridicule and caricature. All that malice, vituperation and billingsgate could do to blacken his good name and malign his character, has been done, but he comes out of the ordeal unscathed-without a blemish upon his honor.

In the midst of all the abuse and misrepresentation that have been heaped upon him, he has spoken not a word of anger or of hate, but has borne it all with the sublime meekness of christian charity and the quiet fortitude that in-

A man nearly fifty years old, named Alexander Deming, living on LaCrosse street, and owning a vacant lot in the Sixth ward worth $1,500, got on a spree and fell into the hands of two rascals. One of them is a young man named Kidder. When Deming started out he had about sixty dollars with him, and his intention was to purchase a cow of a man on Woodward avenue. He was met by Kidder, invited to drink, and then the two sat down in a saloon on Michigan avenue and commenced gambling. So infatuated did Deming become that he did not return home but Kidder won his money, watch, and then two notes of hand of thirteen dollars and twenty-seven dollars. When Deming had nothing more to vote for Greeley, and therefore were put up, he gave his own note of hand for twenty dollars, and lost that. This was Saturday noon. One of the men got a blank deed, filled it with a desdo it! Don't you pair off with the cription of Deming's real estate, and then filled him up with liquor, and lent him one hundred dollars, and offered to play him for the property—they to run the chances of the wife signing it. The man accepted the offer, and before dark had lost the money and the deed .-Then, while the stranger lent him money to keep him playing, Kidder went to Deming's house and presented the paper for the wife to sign. She is not able to read, and he told her that it was her husband's life insurance policy and that she must sign it, or she could never get the money in case of his death. She was about to sign it, when one of the children read the words "Warranty Deed" aloud, and she caught the idea of wat the rascal was about. She seized a chair and in a moment "belted" the scoundrel out doors. Not contented with this, she Ah! Keeping almanaes is evidently not a specialty with these gentlemen. But the miscount in time was perhaps their most venial error. There was a sad mistake, too, somehow, in establishing the paternity of their expected offspring, which, taking time by the forelock, they had already named "Libel." They tried to father the "little responsibility" on the Journal, but the trouble was to prove it. It was a serious time.

It was said that the Journal had prothe United States Circuit Court, to be a scoundrel, and that this constituted the grave offence called libel, even though it was absurd and preposterous to think that Bond could be lowered in character or standing by being thus designated. If Mr. Solicitor Cantwell thinks Bond's character is such that he can get no lower, we are not rude enough to contradict him. However this may be, e went for us nevertheless. The Paris Siccle tells a curious story Russell and Mr. Solicitor Cantwell have illustrating the evil consequences of arbitrary notions concerning marriages during the past week, and, strange to held by the fellowers of religious sects in opposition to the simple view of the made a miscount that would reflect matter taken by the State. The ancient customs of the Hebrew nation make the reception by a young woman of a gift from a young man, tendered with the words, "I consecrate thee to myself with this," a valid marriage. A young and indigent man, being in want of a rich wife, fixed upon a wealthy young Jewess as a fit person upon whom to try a stratagem suggested by this custom: He introduced himself to the lady as

The girl immediately threw down the piece, but the rascal had, in the opinion of the bigoted rabbis, acquired sufficient right over her to induce them to summon her to the synagogue that the affair might be investigated. They fi nally decided that the conditions making the gift a marriage had not been fulfilled; but the poor girl fell ill from agitation and anxiety, and died in a few

MRS. GAINES' LAWSUITS.-Mrs. Gen Gaines and her famous lawsuits are again commanding the attention of the people of New Orleans, this time with a prospect of a speedy termination of her long protracted battle in the courts. The indefatigable woman has proposed to the city council to compromise her claims on the city, based on judgments against the innocent holders who have purchased from the corporation propery which the United States courts have decided belonging to Daniel Clark's heirs. The New Orleans Times says it looks very much as if Mrs. Gaines had the city in a corner on this point, and expresses a hope that a reasonable compromise may be effected.

THE CONNECTICUT MUTUAL SALOON AND RESTAURANT. LIFE INSURANCE CO., OF HARTFORD, CONN.,

Commenced business late in December Commenced business late in December 1846. The wisdom of its conservative course and the skill with which its affairs have been conducted, are demonstrated by what has been accomplished.

Up to the first of January, 1872 it has attained a present membership of 62,458 persons. It has paid to the beneficiaries of deceased members.

$13,109,623.09. It has returned to policy holders, from time to time, surplus premiums and inter-est amounting to

$16,249,612.32. an average of over 50 per cent. of the nominal premiums charged upon policies. It has at risk the sum of $182,785,236,80.

Ratio of expenses to total receipts (for 25 years) Ratio of expenses to receipts, (for the year 1871,)

Gross assets accumulated up to 1872, $31,978,401.66.

Its total liabilities, by the highest standard of solvency, amounts to $26,307,626,92 Its surplus, after 'providing for every con ting ency, is 85,670,764.74. This record of increased and unexampled accomplishment, at a reduced rate of expense, and of unimpaired and unsurpassed strength, is presented as a full justification of the claim of the Company to public confidence.

that Northern Companies do, with the great additional consideration that the capital is kept within the State, and, therefore, helps to build up and foster Home Institutions.

Another important fact to be considered is, that the wilmington Live has thus far obtained A VERY MUCH LARGER INTEREST for the money invested at home, than any of the New York Companies receive for their investments, according to their sworn statements before the Commissioner of that State. These unquestionable facts should commend this company, above all others, to our people. Let it be born in mind that millions of dollars received for Life pre-miums have been sent North since the war, which at once drains the South and enricaes the plethoric capitalists of the North. If there was no other consideration, safety, foirness and cheanness being equal why
